

2011 Michigan Computer, Television, and Printer Takeback Program Descriptions by Brand

Updated July 20, 2011

Select the brand of your computer or television to find information about the takeback recycling program provided by the manufacturer. Any television brand, including those not listed below, can go back to any takeback program. If you have a computer or a printer that is not on this list, check with your local Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) collection program to see if any E-waste recycling opportunities for that item are available in your community. Go to www.michigan.gov/deqreswastecontacts to find your local HHW collection program.

All manufacturers whose computers and televisions are sold to households and small businesses in Michigan are required to have free and convenient takeback recycling programs available to consumers. The takeback program descriptions included in this document are taken directly from the electronic device manufacturer registration forms found here at http://www.michigan.gov/documents/deq/DEQ-RMD-SWLAS-List_2011_Registered_Manufacturers_354733_7.pdf

The Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) is not responsible for the accuracy of the information listed on their takeback program registration form. Please visit the manufacturer's takeback Web site for details on how to use their takeback recycling program. If you are having difficulty using their free and convenient takeback program, please contact the manufacturer.

Take-Back Description: 1) Since 2007 Sony's National Take Back Program has operated across the United States. The program entails over 275 locations nationwide that provide free recycling for anything branded "Sony." All the customer has to do is visit www.sony.com/green to locate nearest drop off location. The locations within Michigan are: Marquette, Orion, Lenox, Grand Rapids, and Saginaw. However, there might be a closer location using the zip code finder within the Web site that may better serve the customer. From these drop off locations ewaste is transported to an approved recycler who demanufactures the waste, in accordance to the highest environmental standards, down to the usable commodities. 2) Sony's Green Glove service is Premier In-home Delivery from Sony. Customer's that buy any 37" or larger BRAVIA LCD television Sony will deliver to your home, place in your room of choice, unpack it, set it up, and clean up the mess. Finally, your old TV will be removed from any room in your house and it will be hauled away and recycled in an environmental responsible manner. For details please visit: www.sony.com/green. 3) Sony's Mail Back Program for Michigan: Sony will contract to provide free take back services for electronic hardware in the state of Michigan. We may include products that Sony is not obligated to take back under the current Michigan legislation. Simply visit <http://www.sony.ecotakeback.com> to discover how the mail in program works. 4) Sony Trade in Program for Michigan: Sony has partnered with ecoNEW which now expands the reach of product categories that are accepted for trade in and very shortly will also add an additional way for customers to recycle, for free, their old electronics that do not qualify for a trade-in value. Additionally, all categories supported can be traded in via an online process that included free shipping into our trade-in center, or for an immediate credit or gift card, brought into a Sony Retail or Outlet Store. Categories that we now accept are any brand of laptops, cameras, camcorders, MP3 players, game systems, and cell phones. 5) Implement new programs, including events and cooperating with local governments, as needed to reach the non-binding ration of 60% weight recycled to weight sold.

Recycling Web site:

<http://www.hp.com/hpinfo/globalcitizenship/environment/recycle/us/mi.html>

Take-Back Program: HP will be using a collection network by our contracted vendor, MPC. Currently, the collection network is made up of retail collection locations. See www.mpc-e.com under the "Take Back Programs" tab for a list of retailer locations currently used and planned for continued use by MPC. NOTE: HP continues to offer our nation-wide Consumer Buyback program, which includes an opportunity for mail back. This program is limited to 5 or fewer eligible items per customer per day. If a Michigan consumer was to deposit 7 items at the above collection network indentified by MPC, and 5 via HP's mail back program, then consumers could submit 12 items per day under programs funded by HP in Michigan. However, HP's understanding is that Michigan DEQ does not wish for HP to count material from the mail back program towards compliance with Michigan take back law due to the 5 item limit when that program is considered alone. Therefore, HP does no include any further details on that program here, and does include any related weight of material in Sections 12 and 15.

Take-Back Program: Epson offers consumers multiple options of managing their end of life electronic equipment and consumables. We currently offer:

- 1) Mail Back Hardware recycling program. We will take back and recycle any Epson branded product for recycling including but not limited to printers, projectors, scanners, fax machines, all-in-one devices, computers, monitors, etc. (this program will cover devices specifically covered under the new State of Michigan Ewaste law)
- 2) In jet Cartridge recycling program. We will take back and properly dispose of all Epson branded ink jet cartridges.
- 3) Tone Cartridges recycling program. We will take back and properly dispose of all Epson branded toner cartridges.
- 4) Donation program. Partnering with the National Cristina Foundation, we offer consumers an alternative (reuse) to recycle their end of life computer equipment. Through this program, the consumer may donate products directly through the National Cristina Foundation from any brand/manufacturer, not just Epson.

Epson used FedEx as our collection and transporting partner. The end user (consumer/business) would go to the Epson Web site referenced above and request information on recycling their end of life electronic equipment. Epson Customer Service personal respond to the end user with instructions on how to obtain a FedEx shipping label. This label is pre-paid and pre-addresses for delivery directly to Epson's recycling vendor. The end user packages up their end of life product, applies the pre-paid, pre-addressed shipping label to their package and takes it to their local FedEx location for shipment. In the event the end user cannot go to their local FedEx drop-off location due to physical limitations, they may contact FedEx for a home pick up. On our Web site we provide all information needed so the consumer can properly return their EOL electronics. On our Web site, we also provide a toll free "800" numbers that provides automated information along with the ability to speak with a "live person" for additional assistance.

Recycling Web site:

Take-Back Program: HP will be using a collection network by our contracted vendor, MPC. Currently, the collection network is made up of retail collection locations. See www.mpc-e.com under the "Take Back Programs" tab for a list of retailer locations currently used and planned for continued use by MPC. NOTE: HP continues to offer our nation-wide Consumer Buyback program, which includes an opportunity for mail back. This program is limited to 5 or fewer eligible items per customer per day. If a Michigan consumer was to deposit 7 items at the above collection network indentified by MPC, and 5 via HP's mail back program, then consumers could submit 12 items per day under programs funded by HP in Michigan. However, HP's understanding is that Michigan DEQ does not wish for HP to count material from the mail back program towards compliance with Michigan take back law due to the 5 item limit when that program is considered alone. Therefore, HP does no include any further details on that program here, and does include any related weight of material in Sections 12 and 15.

Take-Back Program: The Nokia Recycling Program (NRP) consists of a mail back system designed to be free of charge and easily accessible to the consumer. The NRP is built upon Nokia's existing cell phone recycling program. Nokia has engaged voluntarily in the collection and responsible recycling of cell phones in the USA for over 6 years. Currently we operate over 5000 collection points in 85 countries around the world. The primary system of collection employed across the USA is a web-based mail back system that allows the consumer to print a prepaid postage label which may be applied to a container for easy, cost-free shipment of the device to Nokia's recycling partners. Key features of the NRP include: Consumers do not have to pay a separate fee at the time of recycling to recycle used computer equipment under Nokia's NRP. Nokia provides for the collection from a consumer of any used computer or cellular device that bears Nokia brand. Nokia provides for the collection of Nokia computer equipment that is reasonably convenient and available to consumers in Michigan, and designed to meet the collection needs of consumers in this state. Consumers can find out specifically how and where to return computer equipment at <http://www.nokiausa.com/recycle>.

Take-Back Program: For computer equipment, our takeback program consists of a trade-in and trade-up process, where a value is assigned to the used device and a label is provided for a free shipping of the device to be recycled. Users may also request recycling of used electronics, regardless of the brand, and a label is provided for the free return of the item. We take back and recycle a wide range of electronics, well beyond what is required by the Michigan law. MRM also offers consumers a mailback program for computer equipment. Consumers can go to the MRM Web site, click on Michigan on a map of the U.S. and see their options for recycling. Consumers then click on an option to print a pre-paid shipping label for a mailback recycling. Consumers then select the product they want to recycle the brand of the product and enter their address. MRM then sends the consumer a pre0paid shipping label. Consumers package their item for recycling, affix the label and drop it off at any site that accepts UPS packages for shipping. Consumers can the item picked up at their door for a small UPS pick up fee. MRM offers consumers nearly 70 collection sites located across the State of Michigan. Most of MRM's collection sites are at Goodwill stores; other MRM sites include regional retailers American TV and Paul's TV. MRM is in the process of adding additional collection opportunities for consumers by supporting local government recycling programs and expects to add these sites before January 1, 2011. Consumers can go to the MRM Web site, click on the image of the State of Michigan and see a list of collection locations available drop off TV's for recycling.

Take-Back Program: HP will be using a collection network by our contracted vendor, MPC. Currently, the collection network is made up of retail collection locations. See www.mpc-e.com under the "Take Back Programs" tab for a list of retailer locations currently used and planned for continued use by MPC. NOTE: HP continues to offer our nation-wide Consumer Buyback program, which includes an opportunity for mail back. This program is limited to 5 or fewer eligible items per customer per day. If a Michigan consumer was to deposit 7 items at the above collection network identified by MPC, and 5 via HP's mail back program, then consumers could submit 12 items per day under programs funded by HP in Michigan. However, HP's understanding is that Michigan DEQ does not wish for HP to count material from the mail back program towards compliance with Michigan take back law due to the 5 item limit when that program is considered alone. Therefore, HP does not include any further details on that program here, and does not include any related weight of material in Sections 12 and 15.
